FACTS.

The Times to-day, in commenting on Sir Eric Geddes's statement on shipbuilding, hopes that his very optimistic predictions will be gratified up to the hilt, but insists that, roseate as his views are, they are still visions, and declares that the country should not let them obscure the facts, which are uncompromistly grim and stern. Sir Eric Geddes, it says, sooms determined to gloss them over, and insisted yesterday that the construction of new ships in the British, Allied, and neutral yards—what is collequially known as "world" construction—exceeded world "destruction by enemy submarines during the three months ended June 30 lest by some 100,000 tons. That is gratifying, so far as it goes, but we must say plainly again, as we have eften said before, that it is cold comfort for those who trouble to compare the comparative figures of new construction and destruction Although there is little change to report on any portion of the western front, there is no doubt that there is still much fighting in progress.

Eleven tons of bombs were dropped on enemy dumps and billets, and 14 hostile aeroplanes were destroyed, with the loss of two of pur own machines. During the night, in spite of unfavourable weather conditions, bombs were dropped by us on Bray and Bapaume. All our machines returned.

Dr. We appeal especially to two kinds of people. On the one hand, to those who have shared in the great wave of prosperity which is passing over this country as a direct result of the war, and, on the other hand, to those who have shared but might spare something from among their possessions.

We are appealing for a "Grand Tombola," and, in making a gift in money or in kind for been controlled to the self of prisoners of war, we ask the given to bear in mind the service rendered to them by those men, by whose self-accrifice their possessions have been secured to them.

Our appeal is, therefore, for its of every value—pieces of antique furniture, silver, things of price, of which the sale will really help to secure the large fund se urgently needed. Let us give of our best to those who have done there will not the war.
